

Northampton Mercury Sat Aug 28th 1880

KETTERING. The Fine Weather has allowed harvest operations to be got on with rapidly, and during the past few days a considerable quantity has been safely garnered. The Murderous Attack on a Police-constable.— P C. Currin, who was so brutally attacked Cranford last week, is going on favourably, but up to the present no tidings of his assailants have been heard. Their name is Hawkes, and doubtless sooner or later they will turn up.